DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I (claims 1-3) in the reply filed on October 14, 2004 is acknowledged.

Claims 4-13 are canceled by applicant in the respond filed on October 14, 2004.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: items 207, 208, and 209 of figure 2. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

Art Unit: 2151

In page 2, a word "teehniques" line 3 and a word "A" line 19 appear to be a typo error for --techniques-- and --a--.

In page 3, a word "Systems" line 4 appears to be a typo error for --systems--.

In page 7, a word "respons" line 19 appears to be a typo error for --responds--.

In page 8 and page 10, a word "preferrably" line 22 and line 11 appears to be a typo error for --preferably--.

In page 11 and page 12, a word "autoconfiguration" line 1 and line 26 appears to be a typo error for --auto configuration--.

In page 12, a word "proxys" line 22 appears to be a typo error for --proxies--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Macfarlane et al., U.S. Patent Application Publication Number 2001/0042081 (hereinafter Macfarlane), in view of Skopp et al., U.S. Patent Number 6,256,739 (hereinafter Skopp).

With respect to claim 1, Macfarlane fails to teach the compression proxy further interconnected to a user database. However, Macfarlane clearly teaches a computer system apparatus comprising: a client computer providing a browser (paragraph 0026, page 2; and item 39 of figure 3) and a decompression module (paragraph 0014-0015, page 1); at least one compression proxy (item 31 of figure 3) comprising a CPU, a memory means, means for sending requests, means for receiving requests, means for sending data, means for receiving data, and data compression means (paragraph 0034, page 2; paragraph 0100, page 6; and figure 3); a server (item 30 of figure 3); and the client computer, compression proxy and server, interconnected through a wide area network. In the communication network, Skopp discloses the compression proxy further interconnected to a user database (figure 4). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify Macfarlane in view of Skopp by adding the user database to the proxy. The motivation for doing so would have been obvious because adding the user database to proxy increases security, determine user identity, and limit access to a communication network.

With respect to claim 2, Macfarlane further teaches the client computer further comprises a software module providing a transformation means (item 39 of figure 3; paragraph 0014, page 1; and paragraph 0026, page 2).

With respect to claim 3, Macfarlane fails to teach a caching proxy. On the other hand, Skopp discloses the caching proxy (lines 29-44, column 9; item 312 of figures 1B and 5). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify Macfarlane in view of Skopp by adding the caching proxy. The motivation for doing so would have been obvious because cashing proxy reduces delay.
